The very inconvenient hour of 7 A.M. hitherto fixed for the mail's departure has been substituted by 9 A.M.—a concession which is hardly to be received with lively thanks on the part of those chiefly interested. The Postal authorities will not be spared the necessity of keeping open the establishment during the night, nor are the P. & O. Officials likely to benefit particularly by the extra time accorded. Even the British merchant, that iniquitous individual for whose behoof the alteration may be presumed to have been made, will scarcely thank any one for thus prolonging the hour of departure, while no possible good can accrue from the alteration. The

THE refusal of the Grand Jury to find true bill against ex-Governor Eyre, puts a stop certainly for the time, and it may be hoped for ever, to the disgraceful proceedings of the Jamaica Committee prosecution. Punch has an admirable cartoon of the ghost of Palmerston appearing to Disraeli and reproachfully asserting that he would not have left the preserver of Jamaica in the lurch, and the sentiment thus implied will, we are hapby to believe, be echoed by the majority of British subjects in all quarters of the world. It is difficult amidst the mass of spirited and forcible comment which has filled the columns of nearly all respectable journals in Great Britain to select a piece for quotation, but in default of For SWATOW, AMOY & FOOCHOW, - others we extract two paragraphs—one Per "YESSO," at 2 P M. on Thursday, from the Morning Post and the other from the Dublin Evening Mail, as embodying in the most forcible and satisfactory language the ideas which we so heartily endorse. The Post says :-

The difficulties which beset the path of a man who, like Mr Eyre, is called upon to adopt extraordinary measures for the suppression of disturbances and the preservation of the peace, were well illustrated by Mr Justice Blackburn in referring to the prosecution of the Mayor of Bristol for not having acted sufficiently energetically in endeavouring to suppress the famous riots which took place in that town some fiveand thirty years ago. The only difference between that case and the present one is, on an early day, to say what the star the law actually is.

From the Englishman (Calcutta) of June 8:-"The celebrated volumes of the French Apbé Hue on China, and Sir Rutherford Alcock's account of Japan are, no doubt, works of a far higher class and more extensive scope than the one now before us; but for practical utility, for all purposes of locomotion, trading and DIVIDEND of (8 per cent.) Eight residence in any of the places coming withper cent has been declared on the Net in its compass, The Treaty Ports of China Premis contributed to the above Association and Japan, by Messrs Mayers, Dennys and King, far surpasses them. It is difficult to Policy HOLDERS will please send in know under what class of books to place it, graphy, hygiene, Murray's Hand-book and Bradshaw's Guide, -all as complete and excellent in their own line as could be expected; and though, perhaps, the book will not prove attractive to students, it is calculated to give a more intimate knowledge of the towns it describes, aided by the excellent maps which accompany it—the work entirely of Chinese—than any of the more elaborated works that have preceded * * * We trust we have said enough a show that for any one about to visit, or reside in either of the countries described. this work contains not only most valuable information, but many useful bints. (N. C. Daily News, May 16.) A very interesting book has lately been published, entitled "The Treaty Ports of Company for that year divided pro rate to China and Japan," to which it forms a the amount of premium paid by each po- complete guide, and regarding the history of which it gives interesting particulars. Maps of the various localities described are tf inserted, and an appendix shews the existing means of transport between Europe and America and these two countries. A work of the kind was much needed, to THE Undersigned, gents for the above place within reach of the general pub-Company are prepared to grant Poli- lic information regarding the districts cies against FIRE, on BUILDINGS and in which they reside that had hitherto been concealed under the mysterious hieroglyphics of the Chinese language, or at best oven only to sinologues. The modest hope expressed by the authors, that much will be found in the present book that is new and unknown to the general reader, is, we think, fully justified. * * * Hongkong and Canton, for example, each occupy more than 100 pages, comprising every conceivable particular regarding them, from their history native and foreign, to particulars of the geological formation and botanical wealth of the neighbourhood. * * * Not the least interesting feature in the book under review, is the insight it affords us into the character of the population in diff rent parts of this vast empire. * * * One of the most interesting chapters is devoted o a sketch of the history and topographical eatures of Formosa. The vicissitudes of its history, the peculiarities of its inhabitants, and the reputed mineral wealth of its iills afford ample subject for research; and, to a person of Mr Swinhoe's tastes, must have effered powerful attractions. From his "Notes on Formosa" are derived many of the particulars given in the work under review. * * * Interesting descriptions of the fauna and flora of the island are given, for details of which we refer our readers to the book itself. We have, we believe, said enough to show the scope and character of the work; and must take leave of it for the present, though with the intention of completing our sketch of the information it gives regarding the various treaty ports, on a future occasion. In the > more intimate knowledge of it, will regret the time employed. (Singapore Free Press, May 9.) We referred briefly, several days ago, to a new work published by Messrs. A. Shortrede & Co., of Hongkong, entitled "The Treaty Ports of China and Japan." But it would be utterly impossible, in a condensed notice of such a work, to give an adequate idea of its contents. The historical events of interest since the foundation of the settlement of Hongkong, are perhaps too much condensed into a general summary; but the most important feature in the composition of the society of the present colony, is detailed at greater length. When we come to consider that the book before us makes no pretensions to be a history, but merely a guide book, we cannot hesitate to pronounce it at once the most complete work of its kind ever issued. The Appendix may be termed the China Bradshaw, and the text feems with interesting papers,-historical, botanical, and descriptive. The maps and plans are useful illustrations of the geographical position of the treaty ports, and a valuable assistance both to travellers and residents.

Shanghar Recorder May 7, and Supreme Court and Consular Gazette, May 11, 1867. A very useful book has just been issued from the Press in Hongkopg under the title of the " Guide Book and Vade-mecum to the Treaty Ports of China and Japan," compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys. The Book is very conveniently got up; is interspersed with maps of the various treaty poris, and contains, besides much useful local information, historical sketches of much interest. Our readers will feel naturally interested in what is said concerning Shanghai; and a good idea of the history of this place is conveyed in Mr Dennys' work. * * * The other ports THE Undersigned having been appointed in China and also those in Japan are Agents in Macao for the above named | carefully described, and almost all par-Company are prepared to grant Policies ticulars which can be required by the traveller or resident are to be found in th s work, which may be justly regarded as the "Murray" for China.
